Man charged with possessing firearm with no ID
By Jamie Ward
jamie@postguam.com

Guam Police Department officers confiscated a firearm on Friday and charged a man with unlawful possession.
Rahim Kyomasa, 23, was arrested and charged with third-degree felony counts of unlawfully possessing a firearm and possessing one without an identification card.

Parked vehicle
According to a Superior Court of Guam magistrate's complaint, an officer was conducting a night patrol when he noticed a vehicle parked by the entrance to a construction site. When the officer looked into the vehicle, he noted a magazine for a firearm on the driver’s floorboard. He asked Kyomasa if there was a weapon in the vehicle, and Kyomasa allegedly said yes.

Court documents state a firearm was then located in a bag in the vehicle and that when he was asked if he had a firearms ID card, Kyomasa said, "I do not have." The charges
Rahim Kyomasa, 23, was charged with unlawfully possessing a firearm and possessing one without an identification card, both as third-degree felonies.

Man on felony release facing similar charges

Guam arrested a man Friday on Route 15 in Mangilao after a reported disturbance between two men. When Guam Police Department officers arrived on scene, a conservation officer had already taken custody of 42-year-old Patrick Castro, who was charged with a third-degree felony.

Attorney: The convicted drug dealer and informant who was sentenced for December 2017

By Jamie Ward
jamie@postguam.com

The convicted drug dealer and informant who was sentenced for December 2017 went on to commit a new crime. He has been charged with a third-degree felony.

Man convicted for possession of a Schedule II controlled substance and a second-degree felony count of theft, in addition to special allegations of having already committed these two crimes while on felony release.

The Superior Court of Guam magistrate's complaint does not state the cause of the disturbance that led officers to the scene, but when officers arrived and Castro was in custody, he could not provide his vehicle's registration. When officers noticed the vehicle had no front license plate and that the rear plate didn't match what was on the vehicle's registration.

The complaint states the defendant tested presumptive positive for methamphetamine.

The court report also states that when he was interviewed, police informed Castro he was a suspect in a four-vehicle collision from late July.

DOC owes over $3.5M to GMH

By Kevin Kerrigan
kevin@postguam.com

The Department of Corrections has been unable to pay Guam Memorial Hospital for the clinical services it provides to inmates since the start of the fiscal year.

GMH Chief Financial Officer Benita Manglona confirmed that over $2 million is now owed by DOC to the public hospital. No payments have been received for the second, third or fourth quarters of this fiscal year, she said. An additional $1.5 million is owed for inmate services provided to inmates at the hospital.

"The Legislature underfunded us this fiscal year," Department of Corrections Director Tony Lamorena said. "That puts us in a pickle.

Lamorena said DOC requested a little over $3 million for inmate medical services this fiscal year and got only $650,000, all of which has been spent.

He is concerned about the possibility of federal intervention, again.

Inmates do not qualify for Guam's medically indigent program or any other federal health care programs.

States and territories are expected to cover the cost of medical care for their prison populations.

It was just over a year ago, in April 2017, that Chief Judge Frances Tydingco-Gatewood of the District Court of Guam ended the threat of a federal receivership when she lifted the 25-year-old consent decree hanging over DOC following the U.S. Justice Department's acceptance of a government of Guam plan to provide adequate health care, among other things, for inmates.

"Remember those are lawsuits filed by inmates," Lamorena said. "Could it happen again? If services are suspended, yes, it could. I'm not saying it will, but it could."

Manglona emphasized that GMH has no plans to discontinue the clinical services GMH provides at the prison. Lamorena said DOC is trying to work out a way to make payment to the hospital. "It's going to be difficult," he said.

The Attorney General's Office, the Calvo-Tenorio administration and DOC "worked tirelessly to put together a working medical clinic," at the prison, Lamorena said, "and because we're underfunded, that puts it at risk."

The spending plan for fiscal year 2019, which is awaiting action by the governor, provides "healthy" funding for DOC, Lamorena said. DOC asked for about $3.3 million and lawmakers budgeted roughly $3 million.

The problem is the fiscal 2018 budget, Lamorena said. "We were heavily underfunded, and to make good on that debt is going to be really difficult for us."

Guam Cancer Care donates to GDOE

By Louella Losinio
louella@postguam.com

Guam Cancer Care donated medical supplies to the Guam Department of Education on Wednesday to bolster the implementation of the HPV vaccination and school-based immunization pilot program.

The nonprofit, GDOE and the Department of Public Health and Social Services are planning to administer 5,000 HPV vaccinations for this school year. As part of the plan, several immunization clinics will be organized within the school year.

Guam Cancer Care embarked on a program partnership with GDOE and DPHSS on Jan. 16. A memorandum of understanding has been entered among the three collaborating parties, detailing each of their logistical responsibilities and how the program will be implemented.

According to Terry Cuabo, Guam Cancer Care executive director, the partnership adopts a three-pronged approach. The nonprofit takes care of the outreach and marketing component while DPHSS provides the HPV vaccine for the schools. Meanwhile, GDOE takes care of service delivery at the schools.

"When we met with GDOE, we wanted to partner because we knew that it was important to get the summertime and the requirements that they get these mandated immunizations."

Rhythm Blas, Guam Cancer Care outreach coordinator, said immunization clinics will be organized in all 41 schools under the GDOE system.

Following the program launching in January, Blas said several immunization clinics were organized from February to May where over 10,000 vaccinations were administered to students. This school year, the target has been increased to 5,000.

GDOE Superintendent Jon Fernandez received the medical supplies on behalf of the department.

Fernandez said GDOE coordinates with parents, students and personnel involved in the school-based immunization program.

"We worked to get the consent of the parents and the participation of the students in order to deliver the immunization at the school sites. In order for us to do that, a lot of coordination had to take place," Fernandez said.

Prosecution presses for trial of Spice dealer

By Louella Losinio
louella@postguam.com

The defense in the case involving convicted Spice dealer and businessman Max Myongki Ahn has been given until Friday to respond to the government's motion to continue trial, as scheduled, on Sept. 10.

Ahn appeared before Superior Court Judge Anita Sukola on Wednesday to discuss pending legal issues involving his upcoming trial.

One of the issues at hand involved the testing of the confiscated evidence in the case, which is currently in the hands of federal officials.

According to court documents, the government had sent a request to the Guam Crime Lab to test the confiscated evidence; however, the lab could not perform the testing "because the evidence was confiscated by federal law enforcement."

In a prior hearing, Assistant Attorney General Peter Santos said that without that evidence, it's possible the charges against Ahn could be dismissed.

On Wednesday, Sukola told the defendant's legal counsel, Clyde Lemons Jr., to file opposition to the government's motion by Friday.

The court also ordered Ahn to appear for a hearing on Aug. 27.
